1. The citizens of Uganda and Tanzania are stakeholders because their drinking water will be impacted and certain individuals will also be displaced by the East Africa Crude Oil Pipeline. The Ugandan and Tanzanian governments will be impacted because the project will cause more carbon to be emitted, having a negative effect on the economy.
2. The principle demanded by shareholders is for the reporting and disclosure on the assessment of the greenhouse gas emissions resulting from its financing portfolio and its exposure to climate change risk in its lending, investing and financing activities.
3. The triple context of the economy (profit), society (people) and the environment (planet) in which the organisation operates. The bank has to take into account the society that will be impacted by the projects that they finance as well as the effect it might have on the environment. With regard to the East Africa Crude Oil Pipeline project, it has been proven that it has a lot of negative effect on the people and environment of Uganda and Tanzania. The bank also has to make sure that the project that they take on will be profitable for them.
4. Manufactured capital is capital that can either be external or internal. externally, it could refer to manufactured resources that the organisation uses that they didn't manufacture themselves, for example roads.
